Bullzi Security Inc. Acquires Creative Forecast LLC

Lake Mary, Florida, April 18, 2007 – Bullzi Security Inc. (BLLZ.pk), a leading provider of converged security solutions, acquires Creative Forecast LLC, an international graphics design firm that specializes in Flash animation, 3-D rendering, gaming and simulation technologies.

Thomas Welch, founder and CEO of Bullzi Security, Inc. stated, "The acquisition of Creative Forecast will allow us to expand the graphics component of our Web-based Information Security Education (WISE) series well beyond where we are today. WISE is our flagship education product and we want to ensure that we stay on the leading edge of learning using multimedia and gaming technologies. The graphics engineers at Creative Forecast are the best in the industry – having the ability to create life-like animations and state-of-the-art 3D renderings."

Creative Forecast provides animated graphics for eLearning, virtual tours for architects, and interactive animations for gaming. They have 25 employees and consultants throughout the United States and Europe and support a number of Fortune 1000 clients. Vadim Yeremeychuk, President of Creative Forecast stated, "We are excited about this acquisition as we plan to enhance the WISE security curriculum through the use of gaming technology, mobility and character development."

Mr. Welch added, "eLearning has come a long way and we plan to further extend its capabilities through this acquisition. People want to be entertained, thus we plan on making our courseware as entertaining as possible to further enhance the learning experience. The other key factor about this acquisition is that it meets our financial requirement of positive earnings and being accretive in nature."
